We're excited, yes, excited to have everyone back at school. Our school has come alive again. It has been fantastic to see your smiling faces and smiling eyes above the face masks.

Overall, it seems that most of our students have demonstrated remarkable resilience and flexibility both throughout the lockdown period and in returning to school as we adjust to some new restrictions. In addition, it's impressive to see how everyone has embraced wearing masks indoors.

Although the return to classrooms is a welcome change for parents and teachers, there are concerns that some children will face social challenges heading back.

Life was different during the lockdown, and it may take time to adjust fully. Some students may continue to experience a range of emotions about returning to school; worried, excited, nervous, happy, or anything in between.

Last Monday, some students felt sensitive about returning to school after the weekend with a few tears at the gate. This is understandable as many students were by their parents' side for over three months. So, it's only natural that they have become attached.

With six weeks left of the school year, focusing on routines, and getting back into the rhythm of school again, and reconnecting with friends is foremost.

Some students may seem to be behind with schoolwork or socially nervous. However, we are all here to help, don't hesitate to contact your teacher to discuss any challenges.

Finally, if you have siblings to enrol for 2022, please contact the office if you haven't already done so.

Have the best fortnight.

Sheryl
